Mohonk Mountain House,
New Paltz, N.Y.

Built in 1869, this sprawling 259-room lodge is nestled into the Hudson Valley just 90 minutes north of New York City. There's golf, mountain biking, guided hikes and an eco-friendly green-roof garden terrace at the spa, where you can take yoga, Qi Gong or meditation classes. The kid's programs offer activities like rock climbing, hiking, tennis clinics and fossil identification hunts. There is also an astonishing variety of theme week and weekend programs throughout the year, on topics ranging from knitting to yoga, birding, photography, music, gardening and local dining. And for family reunions or big groups booking six or more rooms, the resort offers personalized T-shirts for each guest and one complimentary room upgrade. Victorian rooms feature wood-burning fireplaces and balconies. Smaller family adventure packages include a private campfire with s'mores and a family geo-cache excursion. Summer rates from $949 per night, all-inclusive for a family of four. mohonk.com

Family Resorts

By Rebecca Strauss

Today's family resorts need more than a swimming pool and a game room with a few Xbox 360s to impress modern moms and dads – and kids. In this tight economy, resorts across the country are working hard to attract discerning parents – pony rides or wakeboarding lessons, anyone? Travel experts agree these 12 resorts offer the perfect package for both kids and adults – plenty of together time as well as adult amenities like farm-to-table meals, cocktail hour and spa classes galore.
